Foreword

As we travel o'er life's pathway we encounter many experiences we would like to relive, countless footsteps we would like to retrace. We, too, have enjoyed many rich moments during our school days in Conrad Weiser. In the following pages we have tried to capture some of these cherished moments, which we shall want to remember for many years to come.

The theme of this year's "Weicon" is "Toiling Hands." In the upper left-hand corner we see the tiny hands of a kindergarten pupil, just beginning to break through the surface of education. These little hands will be toiling more and more as the years progress, forever encountering and overcoming new and varied duties; and, as they grow in physical strength, they will enrich the life of the one to whom they belong. To this young student we wish much success in the years that lie ahead.

Pictured in the bottom right-hand corner are the hands of a Senior. These hands have been toiling, day in and day out, through life's long years of schooling. These hands are almost ready to reach for a high school diploma. That, however, will not mean the end of their toiling. They have gained for their owner certain fundamental principles; they have been given slight pushes once in a while to attain their goal, but now upon them alone will depend success or failure in a different and difficult world.

We see now that the hands of the Senior and the hands of our little friend have a close relationship, a similar duty to perform. The one pair will be toiling endlessly throughout many school years, laying the groundwork for future success. The more nurtured pair of hands have successfully built this foundation; now they will be engaged in the much more intricate and difficult task of building a successful life. Will they be able to leave their mark of distinction on the ever-changing pages of history? We of the Weicon staff sincerely hope so.

God's speed to all of you!!

Dedication-

To our mothers and fathers—whose interests have been in the improvement of our lives—whose love and encouragement have been inspirational—and never ending sacrifices have made possible these four years of high school—we respectfully dedicate "The Weicon" of 1957.

Mr. JAMES F. SHANKWEILER
Supervising Principal
Conrad Weiser Area Schools

To the seniors:

During your twelve years of elementary and secondary education, your teachers strived diligently to develop in you the ability to think deeply and critically. Thinking as such, presupposes that you have learned certain knowledges and certain skills which prepared you for the vocation of your choice.

Success in the future years, however, will require more than the possession of information, or the power to think. Knowledge and thinking must be transformed into some kind of work produced with your hands. It will not be sufficient however, to have your hands produce in large quantities. Your work will be judged in a large measure by the way your hands will render services willingly, without thought of receiving something in return; how well your hands will produce work of high quality; how well your hands will be offered in a spirit of cooperation with those of your fellowmen to make this a better world in which to live.

Sincerely,

James F. Shankweiler
Supervising Principal

JOHN B. STULTZFUS

Supervisor of Elementary Education

To the Seniors;

In our society, where power, instead of descending from above, ascends from the common people, it is necessary that there be a high level of purpose, integrity, and intelligence among people.

In a world where problems require the maximum strength of all, it is imperative that every individual be developed to the utmost in mind, body and spirit.

One of the most urgent needs of our times is education; the soundest, most far-reaching and effective education that man can conceive and develop. To that end we in the elementary school have emphasized the development of basic skills necessary for clear objective thinking; reading; listening; observing; discussing; obtaining; evaluating, and organizing information. We stressed the development of spiritual, moral, and emotional values, social improvement; and reaching conclusions. We pass the student with these basic beginnings from our HANDS into the HANDS of secondary education, and the community for further enrichment, and development.

"For all your days prepare,
And meet them ever alike;
When you are the anvil, bear—
When you hammer, strike."

E. Markham

Best wishes for your future success,

THE DANCE BAND

Here is that great Dance Band! "Modern Jazz Delux!" and liked by all. Their director is J. Albert Leader.

Debating, public speaking, and assemblies provide a splendid opportunity for those who aspire to be lawyers, teachers, or the committee chairman!

Pictured here are some of the activities which give the student some of these experiences. Debaters, in the "I Speak For Democracy," contest persuade the audience at the Wernersville Center.

"Strictly Speaking!"

Mrs. Wertz, a judge, congratulates debater, J. Deihm.

Members of the debating team include: Betsy Eagleman, James Deihm, Mary Ruth, Terry Alexander, James Froelich, Suzan Spangler. Coaching the debaters is assigned to instructors: Mrs. Suhr, Miss Gruber, Mr. Snyder.

Assemblies can be fun and educational too. This skit at the Wernersville Center gives the amateur actor his golden chance!

Mary Ruth proves her point.

A Dream of a Prom

The other night immediately following a glass of milk and a heaping dish full of strawberries and pickles I hopped into bed. I can't exactly recall what happened but suddenly I felt hazy and lightheaded, as though I were drifting into space. I saw myself standing at my girl's front door, decked out in my Sunday best and ringing the doorbell...

The door opened and there she stood looking like a princess. After presenting flowers to her we were off to the prom...

Arriving at the prom we spied a few friends and joined the happy group. Everyone was in gay spirits and enjoying the merriment...

Refreshments were served and all who attended welcomed the delicious food and punch. (I believe I had a number of helpings of food and several glassfuls of punch.)

The music was smooth and rhythmic so well all decided to take the fatal step and dance...

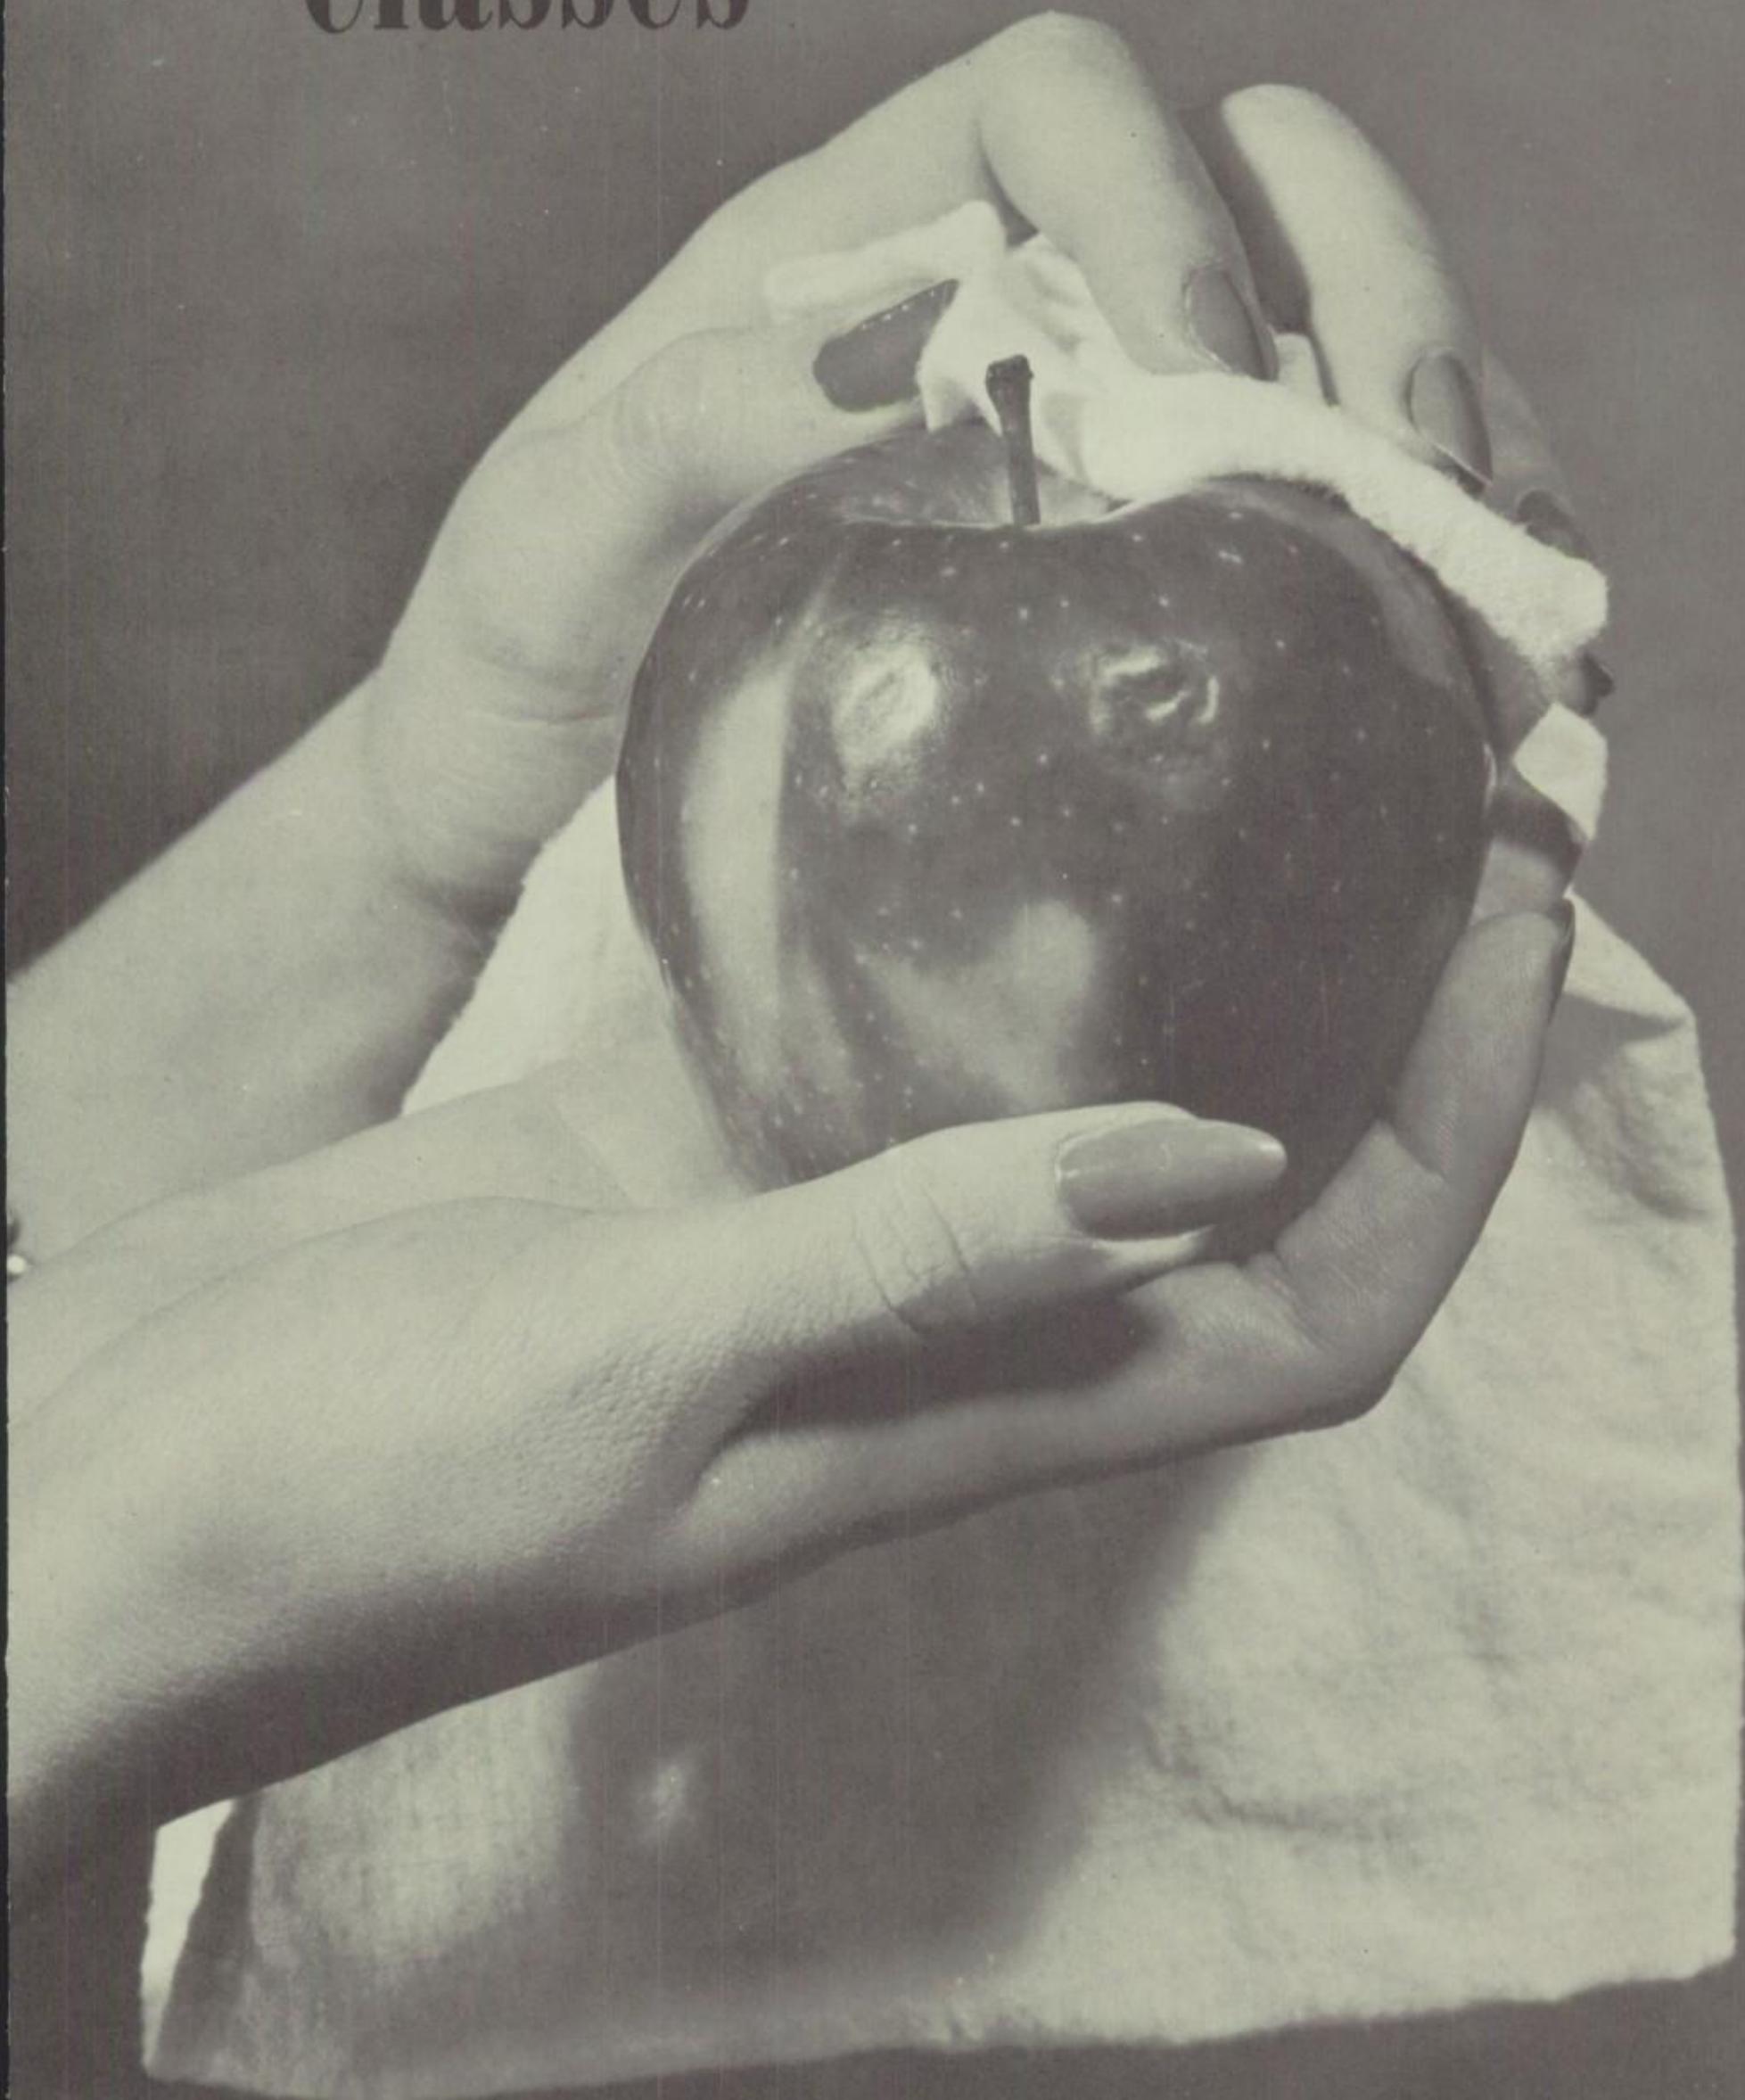

When the clock struck eleven we regretfully ventured from the prom and left in search of some nourishment...

Eating delicious hamburgers and drinking cokes at the restaurant was fun. We laughed and talked until we absolutely had to be shoving home. It was a wonderful dream and there's a good chance that it will become a reality because next week is the biggest social event of the season, the Junior Prom.

THE WISERETTES

The Wiserettes, under the capable direction and coaching of their new coach, Miss Bleichart, completed a very successful season of basketball. Practice sessions started early in the fall with a fine squad being selected. Janice Hafer was elected as captain. The starting lineup usually found Sally Meyers, Janice Haffer, and Shirley Smith carrying off the scoring honors. The team depended upon Geneva Stoudt, Julia Dries, and Lynn Kepply for defense, and holding down the opposing scorers.

The season ended with a splendid party sponsored by the Home Ec. Department, for the players. The team was congratulated for having a .500 season.

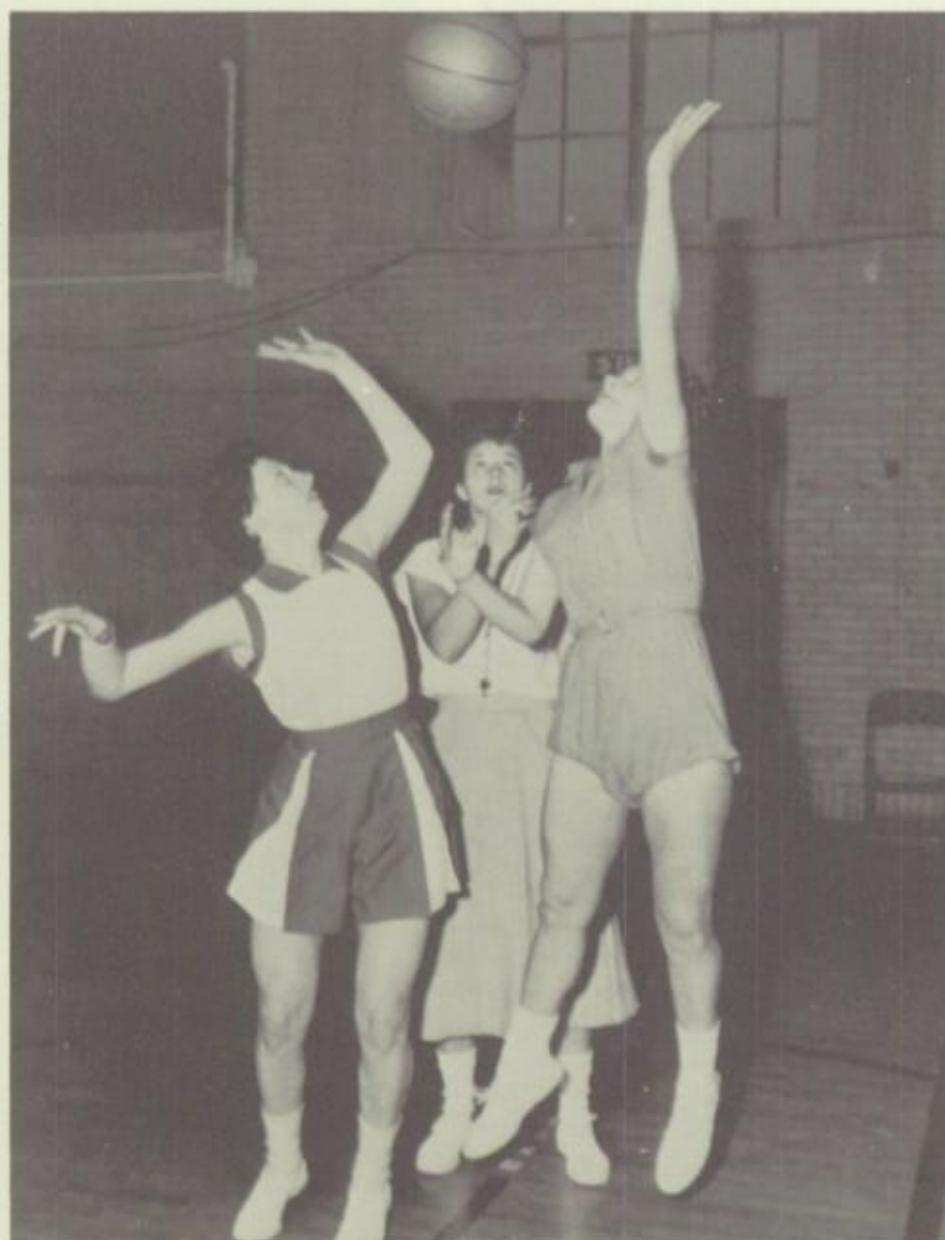

Assisting the coach and players was Eleanor Wagoner as Manager, Sandra Kreitz as Score-keeper, and Nadine Davis as Time Keeper.

Coach Janice Hafer is jumping against her opponent, Shirley Ruth. Miss Bleichart is acting as referee.

Alumni game held Friday, December 7, 1956, at Wernersville Center.

Individual personal cap and gown snapshots are to be pasted over the pictures.
